This is a Research Fellowship under College Statutes with the condition that the Fellow will also teach for the College. Candidates may be working in any area of Law within the scope of the teaching and research undertaken by the Cambridge University Faculty of Law. Applicants will normally be expected to have completed a PhD (or be nearing completion) and to have had at most 10 years of post-graduate research and teaching since completing their first degree. There is a preference for a candidate able to teach at least one of the following:

4. Constitutional Law
5. Land Law
6. Contract Law
7. Equity/the law of Trusts

In addition to pursuing their personal research, the Fellow will be required to teach (typically in small groups of students) for six hours per week for Emmanuel College during Full Term, to Direct Studies if required, and to participate in the annual selection of undergraduates at Emmanuel to read for the Law Tripos.

The stipend for the Herchel Smith Fellow will be approximately £42,627. Additional payments are made to the Herchel Smith Fellows for the supervisions that are undertaken and for directing studies.

The Herchel Smith Fellow will be provided with a study in Emmanuel (or a single resident Fellow’s set in the case of a resident Fellow) and given a start-up grant for the purchase of computing and research equipment. Additional benefits provided for the Fellows will be annual grants of up to £2,500 for academic travel and general research expenses, and £280 for the purchase of academic books. Lunch and dinner in Hall are provided free of charge.
Informal enquiries about the position may be made to the Senior Tutor, Professor Robert Henderson (rmh1003@cam.ac.uk).
